A CURIOUS SPECTATOR - Romulus fireman fighting a house fire at 6337 Columbus St., Romulus, Monday afternoon, had an unexpected - and unidentified - spectator when this Shetland pony turned up to smell the smoke. The fire at the two-story frame home owned by J. Mundy started in the rear bedroom and was confined to that area. The house was unoccupied at the time of the blaze, and no one was injured. Police and firemen are investigating to determine the cause.

Fifty-seven applicants for six liquor licenses

The City of Romulus has been allotted six additional Class C liquor licenses this year by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

The new licenses were issued to the city because of an increase in the city's population as reflected in the 1970 U.S. Census.

The question as to who is to receive the liquor licenses has created considerable amount of pro and con discussion in the city.

The list of applicants seeking the licenses contains the names of 57 persons, including several firms.

The requests made by two large motels for liquor licenses have been denied pending a council study and review of all the applications.

The list of applicants contains the names of former Romulus Township Supervisor and former Wayne County Commissioner Edmund Bizek and a member of the present Romulus City Council, Brooker R. Edwards. Councilman Edward reported at the Oct. 5 city council session that he did not want the license and asked that his name be erased from the list.

Last Wednesday night members of the council and administration met at the municipal building to discuss the issuance of the licenses. It was expected that the list of allotted to the city by Michigan Liquor Control Commission is now being considered by the council.

An executive session of the city council with Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael was held last Wednesday night at the Municipal Building.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the distribution of the new liquor licenses.

There were 57 applications on file for the licenses as of Monday.

The present holders of liquor licenses are:

Terry L. Trout, former Romulus Township Supervisor and former state senator for the 13th Senatorial district. He operates Terry's Lounge, located at 13200 Middlebelt Rd., Romulus.

Joseph J. Lambert of Southfield, present manager of the Romulus branch of the Secretary of State's office. He owns and operates the Landing Strip Lounge, located at Goddard and Shook Roads, Romulus.

Mrs. Rose Wojcik, owner and operator of the Five Points Bar, located 37421 Huron River Dr., Romulus.

Eugene Perecki, owner and operator of the Romulus Recreation, located at 37452 Huron River Dr., Romulus.

The Hilton Inn, located at 31500 Wick Rd. opposite Metropolitan Airport, Romulus.

The Sheraton Metro Inn, located at 8600 Merriman Rd. at the I-94 Expressway, Romulus.

Jack Wilson, owner and operator of Jac's Lounge on Merriman Road.

Leonard Smiegel, owner and operator of Smiegel's Bar, Romulus.

Mrs. Ora Chambers, owner and operator of a bar located at 6221 Middlebelt Rd., Romulus.

Stella Gill, owner and operator of the Eureka Park Bar, Romulus.

Metropolitan Airport has three liquor licensees.

Although the airport is located in the City of Romulus, it is owned and operated by the Wayne County Road Commission, an arm of Wayne County government which approved the licenses.

Conflict of interest charges are leveled

By HENRY CANTIN

Accusations of alleged conflicts of interests and demands that three members of Romulus City Council resign from their elected posts on the city council flew across the room at the Oct. 5 council meeting.

The demand for the resignations and the allegations of conflicts of interest were a climax to various discussions and delaying decisions by the city council on the distribution of Class C liquor licenses to Ramada Inn and Holiday Inn and other applicants during the last three council sessions.

Earlier in the council session, Attorney Alan Adelson, representing Holiday Inn, also made a charge of conflict of interest against two council members.

Holiday Inn of Romulus is seeking one of the six new Class C liquor licenses made available to the city by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

The Holiday Inn request was taken under advisement by the council to be considered along with other pending applications.

Attorneys and representatives for Ramada Inn have made three different appearances before the council in its plea for one of the licenses or council's approval of a transfer of a Resort Tavern license from Green Oak Township, Livingston County to Romulus for use at the motel.

Council denied the requests pending further study of application filed by 57 persons.

A motion for indefinite approval of any requests until the council and administration could get together and study the applications was made at the Sept. 28 council meeting and later vetoed by Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael.

Councilman Edmund W. Bizek made the motion. He was supported by Councilman Brooker R. Edwards.

The roll call vote for approval of the motion was 4-3. Councilmen William M. Oakley, James C. Stewart and Fred Junior Block opposed the motion. Joining Bizek and Edwards in approving the motion were Council President Jimmie Raspberry and Ellis T. Pennington. The motion was put in the form of a resolution and approved by a 4 to 3 vote.

It takes a 5-2 council vote to override the mayor's veto.

At last week's session the council failed to act on the veto.

B.B. Moshier, attorney for Ramada Inn, again appeared before the council Oct. 5 in another plea for a liquor license for the $4 Million inn which opened Aug. 24. Its grand opening awaits the council's approval of the license request.

The council's agenda Oct. 5 did not include the matter of Ramada Inn. Raspberry told Moshier to see the city clerk to have the matter placed on the next agenda.

Moshier told the council, "All members of the council have stated that you are for Ramada Inn, that you want to give Ramada Inn a license, yet you fail to act. I hear 'we are for you' now for two months."

Rev. William M. Quiney, pastor of the Church of Christ of Romulus and president of the Parent-Students-Teachers Association (PSTA) at the Romulus High School, stood up during the discussion period and said:

Charge is referred to county prosecutor

By Henry Cantin

A charge of conflict of interest against two members of Romulus City Council relative to the distribution of Class C liquor licenses has been referred to the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office.

The allegation was made by Alan Adelson, attorney for Holiday Inn, located at 31200 Detroit Industrial Expressway, Romulus.

Holiday Inn is one of the applicants for six additional Class C licenses made available to Romulus by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

The attorney and other representatives of Holiday Inn have made appearances before the city council at its last two council sessions requesting council's approval and issuance of the license.

At the Oct. 5 council meeting Adelson again pleaded for council action on the Holiday Inn's application.

Adelson pointed out Holiday Inn has been in the area many years and that an expansion is planned which will increase the tax base of the city and bring additional benefits to the community.

He stated that Holiday Inn was entitled to a license and asked the council to grant one of the six Class C. licenses to the inn.

The attorney charged that members of the city council have conflict of interest and requested they be excluded from the discussion and vote on Holiday Inn's request.

Council President Jimmie Raspberry defended them, stating they have the right to discuss the issue and vote.

Adelson replied that if either of the two votes on the request he would be in the Wayne County Prosecutor's office the next morning.

"I will be in the prosecutor's office in the morning. I have discussed the matter with the prosecutor's office and they will take a hand in this," he said.

Although Adelson did not mention names, it has been learned he was referring to Councilman Edmund W. Bizek, whose father, B. Edmund Bizek, former Romulus Township Supervisor and former Wayne County commissioner, is one of 57 applicants for a license and Councilman Brooker R. Edwards, who himself is one of the applicants.

At the conclusion of the council session, Edwards reported he did not want the license and asked that his name be withdrawn.

As of Monday the list still contained the names of Edwards and the elder Bizek.

When Adelson reported he would take the matter to the prosecutor's office, the audience applauded. Raspberry pounded his gavel for order and threatened to call the sergeant-at-arms to take over.

Councilman Ellis T. Pennington moved to take the application and request of Holiday Inn under advisement to be considered with other pending applications. He was supported by Edwards.

The roll call vote on the motion was 4-3. The councilmen voting against the motion was 4-3. The Stewart, William M. Oakley and Fred Junior Block.

Adelson promised he would before council again next week.

An elderly woman from Romulus was fatally injured in a house fire at 6748 Cogswell Rd., Romulus, Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Minnie Dingel widow, 86, was found dead on the kitchen floor of the one-story frame home by members of the Romulus Fire Department when they arrived at 1:34 p.m.

Edison rate increases opposed in Romulus

The Romulus City Council has adopted a resolution opposing proposed rate increases by the Detroit Edison Co.

Detroit Edison has filed an application with the Michigan Public Service Commission to amend its rate schedules in order to increase its electric revenues. Hearings on the applications have been scheduled.

The council's resolution pointed out the firm had received an interim rate increase of about 25 per cent less than one year ago and that the present requested rate increase represents an additional increase of 47 per cent.

The present wage freeze imposed by the President has stabilized all other increases, specifically wage increases, the resolution added. It pointed out the proposed rate increase would impose an unbearable financial burden upon the residents of Romulus.

The city council asked the Michigan Public Service Commission to make every effort to make sure the requested increase is denied.

Recount costs reported

A school election recount held following the June 14 school election in the Romulus Community School District cost the district $492, School Superintendent Robert L. McConeghy reported Monday.

A bill for this amount has been submitted to the school board by the Wayne County Board of Auditors.

Hulen Yates, 15555 Colbert St., Romulus, who was defeated in a bid for a one year post on the school board, requested the recount. He lost by a narrow margin of six votes.

The recount conducted by the Wayne County Elections Commissions on June 28 did not change the vote results.

Morris renamed federal chairman

The new president of the Michigan Association of School Boards, Richard Ruhula of Flint, has reappointed Carl W. Morris of Romulus to serve as federal legislative chairman for a one-year term.

Ruhula also serves as president of the Board of Education for the Flint Schools.

Morris, who lives at 13599 Huron River Dr., Romulus, will have duties in Washington, D.C. to fulfill his fourth term in this capacity, representing the Michigan Association of School Boards.

Morris, who is well-known in local, county, state and national educational circles, is a native of Romulus. He is presently serving as president of the Wayne County Association of School Boards and president of the Board of Education of the Romulus Community Schools.

He is also secretary of the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

Stop orders lifted

Stop orders issued by the Romulus Building Department against two electrical contracting firms engaged in an expansion program at the Detroit Metropolitan Airport were lifted Thursday when the firms obtained electrical permits, Clayton Meldrum, building department manager announced Monday.

The firms, Pacific Electric Co. and the Harlan Electric Co., both of Detroit, did not apply for the required electrical permit prior to starting construction work at the airport, Meldrum reported.

PCHA laundry facility now open in Wayne

A new facility of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) opened up early Wednesday morning, and it's designed with the idea of saving costs to everyone involved.

The authority's new $2 million central laundry facility went into full operation at 8 a.m. at a site adjacent to the authority's Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, on the corner of Annapolis and Venoy roads. Viewed by PCHA administrative officials as a major step in their continuing battle against soaring hospital costs, the new laundry building and equipment represents a $1,960,000 investment.

The authority has received a $250,000 federal grant to assist with financing of the project.

Capable of handling 3,400 pounds of laundry per hour — which can be greatly expanded — it will serve the joint needs of the four PCHA hospitals presently totaling 1,100 beds. Provision has been made for increased use of the facilities by additional hospitals (including the new Taylor unit) or hospital additions to accommodate up to 5,000 pounds of laundry per hour.

Formerly the laundry had been done at Annapolis and Outer Drive Hospital in Lincoln Park, where 52 employees took care of the laundry from the four hospitals.

The new facility will employ 38 persons.

In addition to reducing overall costs, the central laundry is expected to improve service to the authority's hospitals along with improving the quality of the laundering service.

A formal dedication of the facility will be held at a later date.

May go to U.S. Supreme Court

County will appeal ruling

By PAM WATT
Daily Eagle Staff Writer

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners is going to the U.S. Supreme Court, if possible, to appeal a Sept. 30 decision from the Michigan Supreme Court granting the third judicial circuit court carte blanche in its financial affairs.

Board Chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick related the details of the court decision at Thursday's meeting, and commissioner's promptly jumped on the bandwagon to do all they can to overturn it.

The decision stems from a 1966 suit by the third judicial circuit court against the County of Wayne, the County Board of Supervisors, County Board of Auditors and Wayne County Treasurer. In the suit the court sought a writ or mandamus forcing the county to appropriate money for 20 positions it wanted to fill.

The court won the suit, but was awarded only one position to fill. Following appeals, the case went to the Michigan Supreme Court, which Sept. 30 decided the circuit court has "inherent powers" and is responsible for determining the "reasonable needs."

In effect, the decision states the county has no power to trim any budget submitted by the court. If the county wants to appeal a request, it must go to the Michigan Supreme Court administrator, who will determine if the circuit court's request is reasonable.

Aloysius Suchy, corporation attorney for the board, told members Thursday they were "in my opinion, virtually powerless." He termed the decision "just another case where the elected officials have no choice."

A spokesman from the Wayne County Board of Auditors informed the commissioners the various courts under the jurisdiction of the board had requested a budget of more than $23 million, which the auditors trimmed by $3.4 million. Under the court decision, the county will be required to reinstate it before the entire budget is adopted for December.

Commissioner Paul Silver (D-11th), who introduced the motion to have the corporation counsel appeal the decision to the U.S. Supreme Court, said he felt the court was "setting up a small group of men and saying they run the government."

Commissioner George Killeen (D-2nd) said he felt if the judges were allowed, "to get away with this, there could be a time when the judges could get back into the spoils system," awarding jobs to friends in attempts to gain re-election, while making the electorate pick up the tab.

The motion was approved unanimously, stating the board would also seek the help of the communities and the state legislature.

Commissioners veto proposal

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners Thursday vetoed a proposal from Commissioner John J. McCann (D-26th) to reconsider its approval of a proposal appropriating $52,425 for fringe benefits for 12 additional assistant prosecuting attorneys.

McCann's district encompasses all of Canton Township.

The motion, defeated 11-7 with one abstention, went down after several commissioners expressed concern the county might lose out on a $174,750 federal grant providing the salaries for additional prosecuting attorneys to fill 12 additional court rooms scheduled to be funded by Phase II of the Wayne Emergency Program.

In applying for the grant the county agreed to pay the $52,425 to meet the cost of fringe benefits for the attorneys, which is not provided for in the grant.

Commissioner McCann proposed dropping the $52,425 in light of the county's financial problems, stating he felt there was no reason the assistant prosecuting attorneys couldn't be hired as contract labor, eliminating the need for the fringe benefits.

"Every little bit should be considered," McCann commented.

The board was informed the grant would have to be reviewed if the provision to provide the money were dropped.

Voting with McCann for the elimination of the extra money was John N. Sabo Jr. (D-24th), whose district encompasses southwestern Westland, all of Wayne, Van Buren Township, Belleville, Sumpter Township and Romulus.

Voting against the proposal were James R. McCartney (D-25th), whose district includes the rest of Westland, Garden City and western Inkster, John Lesinski (D-20th), whose territory includes the rest of Inkster, and James DeSana (D-23rd), whose district includes Huron Township.

The board also approved a motion to submit the question of county home rule to the electorate at the earliest countywide election.

The voters will be asked if they approve establishing a charter commission to draft a proposed home rule charter.

The board also amended its Sept. 9 resolution giving all emergency employment funds to the various communities to have any funds which any community does not want diverted to the county for use in hiring unemployed. It was reported that some communities have expressed a reluctance in accepting their portion of the funds, some feeling the amount they will receive too small with which to hire anyone.

Rally control law considered

The adoption of an ordinance covering group demonstrations and rallies in the City of Romulus is under consideration of Romulus City Council.

City Attorney John E. Young has been instructed to draw an ordinance and to incorporate in the ordinance the requirement of filing an application with the city clerk before any demonstration or rally can be held in the city.

Councilman Ellis T. Pennington asked for adoption of the ordinance. He was supported by Councilman Brooker R. Edwards. The council agreed.

Street lighting plan is initiated in Romulus

A program for improving street lighting in the City of Romulus has been initiated by City Assessor Harold L. Reiner under the directions of the City Council.

Residents who have problems involving street lighting or who want street lights installed in their area are asked to contact the assessor's office for detailed instructions.

The assessor's office is located in the Municipal Building, 11111 S. Wayne Rd. (941-0666).

Reports of inadequate street lighting along S. Wayne Road between Van Born and Goddard Roads and in some other areas of the city resulted in instructions from the council to the administrative staff to hasten progress on the city's proposed master plan for street lighting.

Reiner, who is directing the development of the master plan, has been conferring with officials of the Detroit Edison Co. He reported to the council last week that progress on the plan has been delayed because of other duties and said his office is understaffed.

Reiner asked residents to call his office immediately if they observe any of the city street lights to be out. He said action would be taken to correct it.

He also reported that the installation of street lights is by the special assessment route.

If 60 per cent of the residents wanting street lights in a residential area sign a petition for the installation of the lights, then the city can initiate steps to set up a special assessment district.

Further information on street lighting can be obtained by calling Reiner's office.

Superintendent hails school financing test

Huron School District's School Superintendent Byron K. Antcliff Monday hailed the announcement of Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley of filing court proceedings to test current Michigan educational financing methods.

Superintendent Antcliff called the announcement the "most significant development in perhaps the last 50 years."

Kelley reported he had reviewed the recent decision by the California Supreme Court declaring unconstitutional the state's system of financing public schools through its local property taxes and school aid grants.

He said it was clear from his review that public interest requires a court challenge of Michigan's system of property tax financing and school aid grants, "which in my judgment is unfair and inequitable."

Superintendent Antcliff said, "If Governor Milliken and Atty. Gen. Kelley are upheld by the courts, we may see an end to the grossly unequal opportunities offered young people. I in no way see this as a threat to local control of education. Instead, I believe it will offer a chance for greater local control."

Romulus Community School

District's School Superintendent Robert L. McConeghy said, "I want to know all of the ramifications of this proposed litigation - how it would effect the financing of the Romulus schools. I am very much aware of the money behind each child in the area."

Senior citizens reminded

Romulus residents who will be 65 years of age on or before Dec. 31 and whose income will not exceed $6,000 for the 1971 year may be eligible for a senior citizen's exemption on next year's property taxes.

Romulus City Assessor Harold L. Reiner issued a reminder Monday to residents in Romulus who believe they qualify to call his office before Dec. 31 and be placed on the mailing list for the coming year.

The city assessor's office is located in the Municipal Building, 11111 S. Wayne Rd. (941-0666).

Romulus residents charge conflict

"I would like to ask in behalf of the city of Romulus an opportunity to speak. We find in our opinion a conflict of interest involved regarding liquor licenses for distribution. We think there is malfunction in the office of our president. He continues to permit it.

"I don't think the members of the council should hold meetings on the licenses with those who have a conflict of interest. They should be excluded from the room. That goes for the president of the council.

"Councilman Bizek has conflict of interest directly and indirectly. I demand the three chairs become vacant. If not they will be carryings you won't like."

"Holding up a license for those who can't show realities over those who are realities is not right. Ramada Inn and Holiday Inn are realities," he continued.

"The chairman of the council entertains the two council members with conflict of interest. We asked they be removed from further discussions."

Hulen Yates of 15555 Colbert St., Romulus said "I think the four councilmen voting as a block on this matter are voting against the city. I'd like to see the four resigned from the council. We will start a petition drive and you won't vote for any other matter."

Jack Bath of 32115 Bruce St., Romulus, who has served on various Romulus commissions, said, "I think Quiney hit right on the subject. I am 100 per cent behind him.

"Brooker, Pennington and Bizek. They were elected by people who thought they would do a good job. You haven't done your job. You should resign from your office or be recalled," Bath said.

There was no action by the councilmen after the discussion.

Bureau conducts survey

What is the school enrollment in the United States this fall?

Robert G. McWilliam, director of the Bureau of the Census Data Collection Center, Detroit, announced Monday that a number of households in this area will help to provide the answer when they are interviewed by Census Bureau representatives during the week of Oct. 18-22.

The questions on school enrollment and related subjects such as living arrangements of college students will be in addition to the usual ones asked in the monthly survey on employment and unemployment conducted nationwide by the Bureau for the U.S. Department of Labor.

The October, 1970 survey showed that 60.4 million persons from ages 3 to 34 years were going to school, from nursery school to college. This was 56 per cent of the U.S. population. Of the 29.3 million in this age group not enrolled in school, 27 per cent were high school graduates.

ratified by members of the Teamsters Local 214.

The Huron Board of Education has approved the contract, which calls for an increase of 15 per cent in wage schedules and fringe benefit improvements.

Covered by the one-year contract are the school bus drivers, custodial and maintenance personnel, School Superintendent Bryon K. Antcliff reported.

"The cooperativeness displayed around the bargaining table by both the union and management leads one to believe sincerity was the key to agreement," he said.

The union members representing the employees were Earl Drake from Local 214, who was chief negotiator, Mrs. Rita Carey, Mrs. Helen Falkey, Mrs. Alice Ferguson and Mrs. Edith Barrons.

Representing the school board and management in the negotiations were Tom Nordberg, chief negotiator Luke Wegienka, assistant school superintendent, Carl T. Renton, the school district's business manager and Frank Brown.

In our opinion

Inn liquor licenses should be approved

One of the major responsibilities of elected officials in the operation of any city government is the present and future welfare of its citizens and business enterprises.

In this connection, the officials of a well run city are always concerned with the residential, commercial and industrial development of their community.

The broadening of the city's tax base is a primary requirement for officials who care. The more tax dollars received, the more a city grows with resulting benefits to all phases of community living.

Big inducements in luring people business and industry especially in a growing city are its physical assets and location to all forms of transportation.

The City of Romulus has these inducements. This is shown in the ever increasing growth in residential and business areas of the city.

Romulus, incorporated as a city in May, 1970, as Wayne County's 33rd city, is fast becoming a hub of Western Wayne County.

During recent weeks, the matter of distributing six new Class C liquor licenses (liquor by the glass), allotted the city by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, has been the major topic of discussion before Romulus City Council and in executive sessions of council members.

The city council, after weeks of such discussions and after listening to the pleas of attorneys and representatives for two large Romulus-based multi-million dollar inns, have yet to make their decision.

Many residents of the city, especially those who have been attending the last few council meetings, have voiced strong objections to the manner in which council has apparently delayed approval of requests for liquor licenses made by Ramada Inn and Holiday Inn.

Three members of the city council have voiced approval of the licenses and four have delayed their decision pending further study of 57 applications that are on file.

A resolution approved by the council, tabling indefinitely the issuance of all liquor licenses until councilmen and administration can study all the applicants properly has been vetoed by the mayor.

The mayor's veto is an apparent displeasure at the 4 to 3 roll call vote of the council.

Ramada Inn has made three formal appearances before council seeking first approval of a Class C license and later approval of the transfer of a resort license from Livingston County to Romulus. Holiday Inn has made two appearances.

It can not be argued that the two inns are not coveted assets to the community. They are both tax revenue producing organizations for the city and employers of Romulus citizens.

The two inns should receive favorable action by the city council.

Fall session will be productive

By EDWARD E. MAHALAK, State Representative, 38th District

The so-called fall session of the legislature, which will begin Oct. 26 may well be the most productive period of 1971 for passage of general bills.

To date, your legislators of both houses have been primarily concerned with the state budget and taxation problems. Because of this, other committees have held back on reporting bills for passage in order to avoid cluttering the calendar and holding back the action on the most urgent measures.

Still, the House will come back to a calendar which contains more than 70 bills slated for action. This number is expected to increase many fold as the various committees report those bills they are recommending for passage.

The record to date is encouraging. There have been 1,703 bills introduced in the House and 257 of these have been passed and sent to the Senate. The governor has received 111 bills passed by the legislature and has, to date, vetoed only one.

Last year, only 974 bills were introduced in the House and 336 were sent to the Senate. Of the bills sent to the governor, 264, one was recalled by the legislature, 253 became public acts and 10 were vetoed.

The 1971 legislature still has more than two months to go and those bills not enacted or vetoed will be held for action in 1972.

A good example of the progress of legislation in the House is the record of the committee of which I am chairman, Military and Veterans' Affairs.

Of more than a score of bills assigned to the committee, eight have been reported favorably for House action. Of those, the House has acted on only two. One (HB 4999), which allows veterans to apply for jobs as policemen or firemen until age 36, has passed the house and now is in Senate committee.

The other bill, defeated on the House floor, would have revised qualifications for members of the Board of Managers of the Michigan Veterans Facility.

Six other bills have been recommended for passage, but have been referred to the taxation and appropriations committee for further approval before being submitted for House debate.

Chief among the bills still under study by the military and veterans affairs committee are measures which would increase the homestead property tax exemption for veterans and extend the exemptions to widows; bonus, educational allowances and loan guarantees for Vietnam veterans, broadened benefits for disabled veterans and a bill allowing eligible World War II veterans filing late applications for their state bonus to file those applications in the court of claims. Changes in present burial allowances, special licenses for disabled veterans for their automobiles, state reimbursement to counties for burial expenses for veterans and assurance of continued state grants for veterans' conventions have been proposed in other bills.

Additional bills may be added after the end of the current recess. All in all, the bills reported on in late October, November and December, are expected to reflect more accurately than the legislative work to date on the variety of bills and the scope of proposals offered since January than has been indicated to date, because of the priority given budget and tax bills.

The attorney general on Sept. 23 issued an opinion that public school boards must maintain budgets that are fiscally balanced. If they knowingly adopt unbalanced budgets, those school board members may be removed from office, fined up to $500 and jailed for up to three months.

Attorney General Kelley added that school operating funds are limited to those funds on hand and those "reasonably anticipated revenues, including borrowed money in anticipation of either property tax or school aid revenues" in the same fiscal year.

He said school board members cannot be held personally liable for any obligations the board incurs in excess of its revenues and added that second class school districts may borrow money from the next fiscal year's revenues only for necessary operating expenses that could not have been reasonably foreseen and provided for when tax levies were set for the current year.

School boards, like the legislature, must reduce expenditures when it is reasonably apparent to those boards that during the course of a fiscal year actual expenditures will exceed the total of the funds on hand.

Speaking of schools

New social studies approach is taken

The Social Studies Departments of North and South Junior High Schools have implemented a ninth grade social studies program.

The program has provided four new courses which freshmen can take in partial fulfillment of their high school social studies requirement.

Three of the courses being offered deal with the three periods of American history. The first deals with exploration and colonization. The second with American expansion, and the last with modern America. The fourth course is entitled: Projects, which covers United States history and geography.

In the colonial history course students study the rise of exploration and trade in Europe and how the effect of the Crusades upon life in medieval Europe stirred men to travel west in search of new trade routes. Students will then study the development of the various countries in the New World. Spanish colonies in the new world would be studied.

The development of the areas in the Western Hemisphere under Spanish rule will be investigated to find out what life was like. Special attention will be called to the English explorers and how they developed colonization in America. French influence in North America will be examined as well as the rivalry in settling the continent.

The colonies will then be investigated as to their administration and how conflicts grew to revolution. The independence of other Political affairs during the period will also be covered.

Modern America covers the most recent period of American history. It covers the period from 1920 to the present. This course will be working closely with current events in order to keep up with world affairs. Our nations will be discussed, as well as our American neighbors.

Current issues in the news will also be discussed and reported upon.

The projects course is designed to give students a chance to express American History through drawings and models. Projects will also include projects in geography.

As you can see, social studies at the ninth grade level offers the student a chance to meet his high school requirements at the junior high level, freeing himself to pursue the course of his choice at a later date.

All the courses last one semester except the projects course, which is for the entire year.

colonies belonging to Spain and Portugal will also be studied.

American expansion is a course which studies the building of our nation from 13 states to a total of 50. The westward migration of pioneers will be studied along with their life on the frontier. The sections of land we acquired in the 19th century will be examined as to their characteristics and origins.

Other types of expansion which made our country great will be included, such as development of farming.

Belleville man claims firm polluting waters

To the editor:

Accompanying this letter to Washington D.C. officials is a sample of a pollutant which has been dumped into Belleville Lake, about 30 miles west of Detroit, near I-94 Expressway.

This substance is a paint-like material which floats and appears to be dumped into the Huron River by a paper mill in Ypsilanti. It goes through Ford Lake, Huron River, Belleville Lake and Huron River again to the lake at Flat Rock, and then by Huron River again eventually to Lake Erie.

This material, I understand, is used to make colored construction paper for school and decorative uses. Sometimes it may be red or yellow, purple or blue depending on the color of the batch of paper being run. This happens to be green. This pollution occurs every summer. Particularly bad this year on account of low water levels.

I could as easily have filled a 50 gallon drum as the small sample bottle which I got. It ran about 10 per cent water. The shore was lined with it. One cannot enter the water for swimming without getting covered with the stuff. In using lake water for sprinkling, I have the stuff on my drive, 300 feet away. Boats become fouled with it, and it stinks to high heaven. If a resident dumped something like this he would soon be in trouble.

If this isn't pollution in its most flagrant form, what is it? Why must people living along the river and the lakes be subjected to this mess, for the convenience of an industry which has no regard for the conditions it creates for other people or our resources?

Please investigate and bring pressure on the violators.

George M. Arnold
Belleville

State official replies to letter on pollution

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following letter has been received by Mr. Arnold in response to his letter to the Department of Natural Resources.

This is to acknowledge receipt of your letter of September 14, 1971, together with a water specimen collected from Belleville Lake. The liquid substance contained in the sample bottle portrayed the characteristics of a paint-like material. The green substance, although displaying all the characteristics of paint, was a dense growth of alga material.

A paper mill located in the vicinity has during earlier times been responsible for discoloration of the Huron River, however, this problem was long ago corrected. Wastewater originating from the paper mill operations is currently being treated by the City of Ypsilanti wastewater treatment facility.

The sample, received in this office on Sept. 20, 1971, was analyzed by the staff's biologist and found to contain a bloom of cocoid, blue-green algae known as anacystis. The biologist indicates that anacystis and other related alga forms are indicative of polluted water. Alga blooms of this nature do not necessarily occur as a result of recent pollution.

The pollutant can be present for weeks or months without any occurrence of blooms. Blooms occur only during the optimum environmental conditions and are dependent upon temperature, sunlight, and presence of certain industrial waste, domestic sewage, or closely related organic waste containing phosphorus and nitrogen compounds.

It would appear to us that optimum growth conditions occurred in the reach of the Huron River immediately prior to collection of the sample sent to this office. Alga blooms of this type can form within hours during such optimum growth conditions.

The biologist indicates that alga cells are opportunistic organisms which take advantage of such prime conditions to perpetuate themselves. They soon die of and decompose due to insufficient oxygen and result in the formation of odoriferous intermediate products from the alga proteins. Alga blooms, we understand, can reoccur again and again as long as the conditions for their growth prevail.

It is unlikely that another bloom of this nature will occur in this area again this year now that cooler weather has arrived.

We are pleased to be able to advise you that the Water Resources Commission has set into motion a program requiring the reduction of phosphorus in all waste discharged to the waters of the state. The Commission has specified that phosphorus-bearing waste must be reduced 80 percent by a certain date depending on the geographic location in question.

In many parts of southeastern Michigan phosphorus facilities have been installed and are currently in operation. We look forward to the construction of new and improved facilities at all major discharge sources in southeastern Michigan. At such time as the state's program becomes fully implemented, we are certain that significant improvements will be realized in the water quality of the Huron River and other surface waters in southeastern Michigan.

We appreciate your interest and wish to thank you for the time you have taken in expressing your concern of pollution of our waterways. We are most encouraged at this point in time that in the very near future, the full utilization of our water resources for all designated activities can be fully realized.

Outdoor mass held for invalids, shut-ins

The second outdoor mass for shut-ins was held at St. Aloysius Church, Romulus, at 3 p.m. Saturday (Oct. 9) when about 50 invalids and shut-ins gathered to participate in the mass said by Pastor Fr. Joseph Kernosek.

Due to threatening weather, the garage of the rectory was scrubbed and converted to a temporary chapel. Some of those in wheel chairs were taken into the garage and others remained in their cars at the garage's entrance.

Father Kernosek took the Holy Communion to communicants where they sat.

According to Mrs. Florence Klein, chairman of the Christian Service Committee, which organized the arrangements, the service was a beautifully emotional and uplifting experience for all who took part.

"I want to thank everyone who had any part in making such a beautiful day for all of us," she said.

Following the services, senior citizens, convalescents and other guests enjoyed a picnic lunch. The Romulus VFW auxiliary prepared chicken and french fries, furnished by the VFW. Rama Bakery donated dozens of donuts and Mrs. Edna Ellison furnished and prepared coffee.

Participants came from Romulus, Belleville, Westland, Wayne and Dearborn. Transportation from the convalescent homes was furnished by Father King of the St. John's Catholic Church in Ypsilanti.

Organ music for the service and accompaniment for the choir was furnished by Miss Linda Fox.

Mrs. Klein gave special credit to the teenagers and Frank Wisniewski for their assistance in getting the facilities ready for the mass.

OUTDOOR MASS PARTICIPANTS - About 50 invalids and shut-ins attended an outdoor mass at St. Aloysius Catholic Church of Romulus Saturday morning (Oct. 9). Because of threatening weather, the rectory's garage was converted into a temporary chapel. Some of the senior citizens and those in wheel chairs were moved into the garage while others remained in cars parked just outside of the garage. A view of a portion of the older participants singing the mass is shown.

Church's dinner is tomorrow

The Trinity Episcopal Church of Belleville, located on Belleville Road south of the I-94 Expressway, will hold its annual Harvest Home dinner from 5 to 7 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 14 at the church.

A meal of fresh ham with all the trimmings is being sponsored by the Episcopal Council of Women (ECW).

Tickets are $2 for adults, $1 for children and 50 cents for children under five years of age.

Bazaar, dinner planned

The New Boston Women's Society For Christian Service (WSSC) will sponsor a Bazaar and Dinner at the United Methodist Church, located on Huron River Drive, New Boston, on Saturday, Oct. 23.

The Bazaar will begin at 2 p.m. Serving of the dinner will be from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

On Sunday (Oct. 10) a potluck dinner and gettogether honoring the Frank Bishop family was held at the New Boston Methodist church by members of the Romulus and New Boston United Methodist Churches.

Bishop and his family have accepted the challenge of the Ministry and will be leaving this month for Crystal Falls in the Upper Peninsula.

Continuing trend toward fewer but larger farms

A continuing trend toward larger and larger farms in Michigan, while the number of individual farms continue to dwindle, is reported by B. Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Ball, commenting on figures released through the federal-state Crop Reporting Service, said, "When you realize that, at the time the 1969 agricultural census was taken, Michigan had less land in farms than before 1880, you become aware of the increased productivity of each acre."

"Census statistics indicate Michigan had 13,807,240 acres in farmland in 1880, a figure which continued to grow until reaching a peak about 1920," Ball pointed out. "Since that time it has been shrinking until in 1969 the state reported 11,900,689 acres in farmland."

"The acreage harvested in Michigan during 1970 was approximately one million less than 1965," Ball indicated, "but total production remained constant."

Farmers provide land for hunting

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has agreements with approximately 2,000 farmers in Michigan who are providing nearly 200,000 acres of land for public hunting.

Nick Smith, Chairman of the Michigan State ASC Committee reminds hunters that this program is made available to them.

Areas throughout the southern part of Michigan that have never been open to the public before are available. Such areas may be located by contacting the local county ASCS office or the Michigan State ASCS Office for the names of the land owners and their location.

Smith further emphasizes that even though the land is acres increased in number by 9.5 per cent.

"It is simply another example," said Ball, "of the serious economic position in which most of the state's open for public hunting, the landowner's rights must be observed and the number of hunters per farm is restricted. Therefore, it is essential that all hunters identify themselves at the farm headquarters and observe safe and sensible rules of hunting.

An average of 283,000 health career jobs will open up each year during the 1970's, the Labor Department's Occupational Outlook Quarterly reports. Population growth, increasing coverage under health insurance plans, and the rising scope of medical services will spur demands for health services during the decade.

Historical marker notes former mill location

Members of the Dexter-Area Historical Society and officials of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA) unveiled a historical marker at Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park, northwest of Ann Arbor, last Thursday. The marker points out that this site was formerly the location of a small hamlet called Hudson Mills, which contained a grist mill, a cider mill and a plaster mill. Thus, the Huron River was an important natural resource for the early settlers of Washtenaw County because it was a source of water power for driving mill machinery.

As early as 1827 a dam and sawmill were constructed at Hudson Mills to provide lumber for pioneer buildings.

The Michigan Historical Society in January of this year registered Hudson Mills as local site Number 110, which is now a part of Hudson Mills Metropolitan Park. The purpose of the marker is to remind citizens of the grist and other mills that originally existed on the site.

Participating in the dedication ceremony were Frank Wilhelme, president, and Mrs. Norma McAllister, secretary, both representing the Dexter-Area Historical Society.

Polish, Ukrainian music at Westland festival

Westland Center's Third Annual International Festival this week will feature Polish and Ukrainian music.

Ron Ditka, host of Polka World on WJLD-AM, 1090 on the radio dial, will be presenting a Live Polka World Show. The show will be in the East Court of Westland Center between 2 and 6 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

Ditka will be featuring Big Don Martin and the Happy Polka Kings Polka Band and the Polish Womens Alliance Council 20 Castle Dancers on Friday.

In addition to the band and dancers, there will be a polka contest, open to the public. The winner of Friday's contest will return for Saturday's contest and the grand winner will be invited to join Ditka on his Sunday radio show.

Saturday the featured entertainers will be the Dyna Dukes from Detroit Polka Band and the V-Tones from Detroit Polka Band. The dancers will return on Saturday.

Special guests at the show will be Conrad Patrick and Mr. Belvedere.

Ron Ditka's Polka World, sponsored by Mr. Belvedere, can be heard every Sunday morning between 8:30 and 9:30 a.m. on WJLD.

The Ondusky's—a family string orchestra under the direction of their father—will give a special program entitled "Songs and Dances of Cossack Ukraine" at 7 p.m., Saturday in the East Court.

The Ondusky's moved to Detroit about 10 years ago from Wheeling, W.Va. The children were taught Ukrainian music by memorizing the words to simple songs and later placing the words beneath the notes.

The Ondusky's have entertained many times at Ukrainian affairs in Detroit and are being featured with the Metro Arts Extravaganza in the Ford Auditorium. Their last appearance was at the Ukrainian Festival at Cobo Hall.

Met's Lili Chookasian appears with symphony

The Mount Holyoke College Glee Club and the Williams College Choral Society will make their first appearances with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra at concerts this Thursday and Saturday evening at 8:30 in Ford Auditorium.

Metropolitan Opera contralto Lili Chookasian will be featured in solo roles at the same concerts, which will be conducted by Sixten Ehrling.

The program on both nights will be the Beethoven Symphony No. 5, the Brahms "Alto Rhapsody," and Prokofiev's epic cantata "Alexander Nevsky," which is based on Prokofiev's score for the great Sergei Eisenstein.

All of the participants will join forces again later this season for repeat performances of "Alexander Nevsky" in New York's Carnegie Hall on Nov. 4 and at the new John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C. on Nov. 5.

The orchestral portion of the program will be different on those occasions, however. Ehrling will pair the Nielsen Overture to "Maskarade" and Sibelius Symphony No. 2 with the Prokofiev cantata on those nights.

Miss Chookasian, who last appeared with the Detroit Symphony in performances of the Verdi "Requiem" in 1966, is a native Chicagoan. She was first noted nationally after critical raves from a summer concert with her home city's orchestra in Grant Park.

She made her operatic debut in Little Rock, Arkansas, and a tape of the performance was played for Thomas Schippers, who immediately engaged her for roles at the Festival of Two Worlds in Spoleto, Italy, as well as for performances of "Alexander Nevsky" with the New York Philharmonic.

She made her Metropolitan Opera debut in 1962 and since then has appeared frequently there as well as on recital and concert tours.

The Mount Holyoke College Glee Club, which is directed by Tamara Knell, is comprised of upperclassmen and graduate students at the college. The Glee Club performed in a number of cities, including Detroit, in a tour last year with the MIT Glee Club. The group also has appeared with the Yale Glee Club and New Haven Symphony and with the Williams College Choral Society.

The Williams College Choral Society, Kenneth Roberts, director, was founded in 1967, reorganizing choral activities of that Massachusetts school which had been in progress for more than a hundred years.

Cory PTA gets 400 to meeting

Cory Elementary School PTA leaders hope that last Monday's meeting is an indication of the parent support and interest in PTA activity in the Cory area.

More than 400 parents and children turned out to visit the school and sign up for PTA membership.

Mrs. Gloria Chandler, president, said the main feature for the evening were portraits of "Mother," created by the children under the guidance of art teacher, Mrs. Cheryl Huff.

The likenesses were especially clever, Mrs. Chandler said, in that materials had been used to add dimensions to the pictures.

A special guest was new school board member Mrs. Diane Boger, who lives in the Cory school area, although her children are still pre-school age.

Mrs. Boger and her husband joined 175 others to become members of the PTA organization. Mrs. Shirley Linderman, membership chairman, ran out of cards and reports that more are on the way. "We are determined to win the Area Council Membership Trophy this year," she said.

At Hi-Low reducing club

Members welcome

"Surely there's someone around who needs our help," said Mrs. Chris Benton, president of the Hi-Low weight reducing club, which meets weekly at Cory Elementary School, 35200 Smith Rd., Romulus.

"We get together at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesdays in the school gym to help one another lose weight, and we welcome new members," Mrs. Benton said Monday.

Even if such hard work as taking off pounds can't be fun, Mrs. Benton makes the club's activities sound enjoyable.

"We have contests with cash prizes, we make awards and pay our penalties when we gain. There's a time set aside for exercise and a new team horserace that has everyone excited about keeping on their diets."

Another aid the club has employed to help ease off the pounds is a list. "We are writing down everything we eat this week and when we have our next meeting we will go over the lists and discuss what it was that slowed us down," she explained.

The group elected new officers at its last meeting. They are Mrs. Chris Benton, president; Mrs. Rose Gillis, vice president; Mrs. Kay Cohoon, treasurer; Mrs. Pat Linderman, vice treasurer; Mrs. Barbara Beegle, recording secretary.

ROMULUS COMMUNITY SCHOOLS FINANCIAL REPORT

1970-1971

Board of Education
Romulus Community
Schools, Michigan
To the Board of Education:

We have examined the balance sheets and related statements of revenue and expenditures of the Romulus Community Schools for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1971. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements of the various funds present fairly the financial position of the Romulus Community Schools at June 30, 1971, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted school accounting principles applied on a consistent basis.

Respectfully submitted,

There are 14 buildings making a total of 130 classrooms in the school district, with equipment valued at $677,500. During the 1970-71 fiscal attendance figures show 5,846 fulltime resident pupils and 2 fulltime non-resident pupils; a total of 5,848 fulltime pupils taught by 267 fulltime classroom teachers. The ratio of pupils to fulltime certified teachers is 22 to 1. Teacher salaries ranged from a minimum of $8,000 to a maximum of $16,000; a total of $3,610,159 for salaries of classroom teachers.

The foregoing report does not include the balance due on school bus loans totaling $118,732.90 conforming to the provisions of the revised school accounting manual. The major reason for the district ending in a deficit position as of June 30, 1971 was due to the State of Michigan Executive Order State Aid reduction. With the failure of the electorate to provide the necessary money to build additional classrooms and the prospect of several hundred additional students for the 1971-72 fiscal, student housing will be an increasing item of concern. The 1971 tax levy will include 10 extra voted mills for the last time. These 10 mills provide approximately $1,500,000 to the operating budget and a successful renewal millage election must be held prior to the opening of school in 1972.

Next week proclaimed for businesswomen

A formal proclamation designating the week of Oct. 17-23 as National Business Women's Week in the City of Belleville was issued Monday by Mayor Royce E. Smith.

The local observance is being held in conjunction with the national celebration of Business Women's Week.

The proclamation was issued at the request of officers of the Belleville Business, Professional Women's Club headed by Mrs. Betty Savage.

The mayor's proclamation follows:

Whereas, working women constitute 26 million of the nation's working force, and are constantly striving to serve their communities, their states and their nation in civic and cultural programs;

And whereas, a major goal of business and professional women is to help create a better world for all human beings through the study of social, educational, economic and political problems; to help them be of greater service to their community; to promote an era of responsibility in all phases of daily living and to further friendship with women throughout the world;

And whereas, all Michigan citizens are proud of the leadership of these women in their many fields of endeavor, and their acceptance of their role of responsibility in the economic and social growth of our state;

Now, therefore, I Royce E. Smith mayor of the city of Belleville, Michigan, do hereby proclaim Oct. 17-23, as National Business Women's Week in Belleville and urge all citizens, civic and fraternal groups, educational associations, news media and other community organizations to join in this observance by encouraging and promoting the celebration of the achievements of all business and professional women as they contribute daily to our economic, civic and cultural development.

BUSINESS WOMEN'S WEEK — Mayor Royce E. Smith of Belleville has proclaimed the week of Oct. 17-23 as Business Women's Week in the City of Belleville. Looking over the official proclamation is Mrs. Betty Savage, president of the Belleville Business, Professional Women's Club.

John Versteeg named "outstanding man"

John Harvey Versteeg, 37, son of Mr. and Mrs. Amtoon Versteeg, 30938 Ecorse Rd., Romulus, has been named in the 1971 edition of "Outstanding Young Men of America."

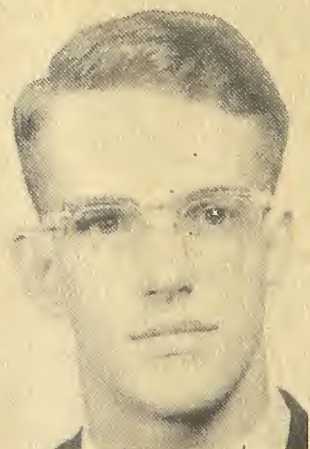

Versteeg, now of Forest Lake, Ill., is presently serving as the director of the Lake County Museum in Waukegan, Ill., which he reorganized in 1970 from the old private Lake County Museum of History.

The former Romulus resident is regarded by the committee that selected him to direct the museum "as one of the most eminent curators in the country, based on his work with museums in Michigan and Ohio."

Versteeg who is married and the father of two children, graduated in 1956 from Michigan State University with a teaching degree and did post graduate work at the University of California at Los Angeles in film production.

His background also includes teaching at MSU, at the University of Michigan in Russian and African history and studying for a master's degree at Wayne State University.

Prior to his current position as Lake County Museum curator, Versteeg served as head curator of the Old Museum Village of Smith's Clove in Monroe, N.Y. A village of 40 exhibit buildings with an attendance of 125,000 per season. He was responsible for collections, exhibits and craft demonstrations.

In July, 1968 he served as the first professional director of the Barry County Museum and the 200-acre Charlton Park near Hastings, Mich., which has been closed for five years.

Romulus PTA leaders report busing concern

By Beverly McAnally

Romulus PTA leaders report much interest, rumor and concern about recent federal rulings concerning school busing to achieve integration.

However, it is reported that people are being watchful and interested, but not yet militant, about developments.

"We have no reason to think Romulus will be involved," said Area PTA Council President Mrs. Fran Petre. "We know our suburban administrators have been attending meetings and have retained legal counsel to protect the interests of their respective districts."

"Furthermore," she continued, "all the projected maps and discussions as printed in metropolitan dailies have excluded Romulus."

Other leaders voiced their opinions and those of their membership.

Mrs. Donna Lee Zavitz of Hayti Elementary School said, "People are certainly upright about the rulings and they are very negative about having their children bused out of their district. But their attitude generally is to wait and see. I wouldn't want my own kids bused to Birmingham or Grosse Isle."

Mrs. Tressa Rohde spoke of attitudes in the Harrison area, where she lives, and the Gordonier area, where her children attend classes.

"There has been a lot of rumble, but until we get definite word that we are involved we can only wait. We are already integrated so why would they bother us?" she asked.

Mrs. Marjorie Butler of Romulus Elementary School said she hasn't talked to a lot of people but that those who have voiced an opinion vary depending upon the age of their own children. Those who had college age or married children tended to be more willing to equalize education through busing than were those whose children in the age groups likely to be affected.

Younger couples, she said, want integrated housing and better teachers and equality in schools and neighborhoods. "Personally," said Mrs. Butler, "I don't want mine bused, I don't want to worry about integration. I don't want my children abused and called names. If integration had been my concern we would have bought land and built our home in an area that wasn't already integrated."

Mrs. Butler emphasized that black parents loved their children too and were as concerned about their safety and welfare as were white parents.

Mrs. Jeannie Ursery, leader of a pre-school nursery group and mother of an elementary age child, said, "It's bad enough that we have to put kids on a bus at all. But to send them on a cross-county expedition twice a day is impractical and foolish. Not only are they incurring greater risks to the children due to traffic congestion, but it will increase operating costs of the schools."

Mrs. Mary Ann Christenson of the high school PTA reported some people were pretty tense about the situation and that there are lots of rumors. She reported people to be negative and concerned.

Perry Gray, PTA leader at Beverly Elementary School, feels there are inequities between educational facilities between the inner-city of Detroit and the suburbs.

"I don't feel they are getting full benefit of their tax dollars. But using children to settle it isn't good," he said. "People make the difference. Those of lower incomes have less all the way. But it would be stupid to send kids from Beverly School to Dearborn. I am not in favor of busing kids to settle this matter. I wouldn't feel comfortable about my kids being bused."
